Continuing the Conversation...

“For truly I tell you, if you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you.” (Matthew 17:20)

“But do not ignore this one fact, beloved, that with the Lord one day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like one day.” (2 Peter 3:8)

The last couple of months in this continuing newsletter conversation I have briefly shared with you information on the work of dreaming and praying that our Servant Leadership Board is undertaking (along with the practical tasks of decision making for the greater good of the church). The source we are using for study, “Drawing the Circle: Taking the 40-Day Prayer Challenge” specifically instructs us on dreaming big (anything less is an insult to God). The second instruction was on praying hard (because prayer is the difference between good ideas and God ideas). Most recently we have been challenged to think long (asking questions like, “what difference will what we are doing now make not only for us, but also for future generations).

In thinking long we are challenged to take our praying to another level; a more confident, intimate time with God sharing our BIG God-sized dreams. We are further reminded that we need to trust in God’s timing in answering those prayers. Too often we want things done at the speed of light, but in God’s kingdom things most often happen at the speed of a seed planted in the ground. That seed has to take root before it can bear fruit. We also must accept that God answers in three ways: yes, no, not yet.

The work we do for God’s kingdom is about seeking God’s will and seeking where and how God wants us to join in that kingdom work...and then trusting in God’s timing as we remember that “with the Lord one day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like one day.”

That can be a hard pill for us to swallow in our world of instant everything, but I find great encouragement in understanding that our prayers have no expiration date. We are living today many of the answers to prayers lifted up by Christians that have gone on before us after they dared to dream BIG God-sized dreams and pray BOLD prayers while planting a faith community here at 210 N Court Street in Sparta. We are part of something much bigger than ourselves. That thought while encouraging and exciting also brings a couple of questions to mind.

First, are we living life and ministry in such a way as to honor the prayer legacy we are part of? Are we trusting God to answer prayers in and through us as we faithfully seek to follow Jesus here and throughout this community?

Second, are we continuing to dream BIG God-sized dreams and pray BOLD prayers so that this church, this community of faith, continues to see God’s wondrous works done here well into future generations? I am reminded here of the story of Cornelius found in Acts 10. He as an Italian centurion, a devout man who feared God, who gave generously, and prayed constantly. One afternoon as he prayed he was startled by a vision of an angel. The angel spoke saying in part, “Cornelius, your prayers, and your alms have ascended as a memorial before God.” I love the imagery of our prayers and giving ascending as a memorial before God. What kind of memorial are your prayers and giving building?

Please understand, it isn’t that God can’t work wonders without us. God can. But the thing is, God wants to involve us; God wants us to want BIG God-sized dreams happening in and through us. So God waits for us to come in prayer, in all humility seeking God’s will for us and the world, knowing we can’t bring about those dreams on our own.

But, God also invites us to come boldly to God’s throne of grace as a beloved child of God. Parents and grandparents think about how you felt when your child or grandchild worked hard, letting their creativity flow on a piece of artwork; and then they brought it to you, giving it to you with all their love.

I know many such works have made it to my refrigerator, a kind of memorial to my child's love.

I imagine that is how God feels when we bring our BIG God-sized dreams to him and ask for his help in living them out.

The Servant Leadership Board will continue our focus on prayer, even as we begin to explore more fully over the summer what our BIG God-sized dreams for Sparta United Methodist Church are. If you would like to learn more about the prayer challenge please let me know, or if you would like to share some of your BIG God-sized dreams for this church, I am always eager to hear from you. I hope all of you will join in prayerfully asking: What are we doing as a church that will make a difference for the glory of God a hundred years from now?

Serving and leading in Christ's love!

Records and History Committee Update

Greetings Everyone,

It is with a heavy heart, that I inform you that our Committee has decided to postpone Our Community in Concert until 2022. There is a lot of preparation that goes into this event and we are still uncertain of how our community will be when October rolls around. Please know that we want to continue this great event and will do so when we know what our new normal is. By then, hopefully, there will be protocols in place and we can insure everyone's safety whether they are performing or attending as our guest. Thank you so much to those that expressed an interest in performing and those that come to support our musicians. The show will go on, just not in 2021.

Servant Leadership Board Update

At the April board meeting a good discussion was held around our current worship services. We have much to celebrate as church:

- The “bugs” are getting worked out of our livestreaming and recording process. We now have four teams trained for and they are all becoming more confident in this important ministry. If you are interested in being trained to livestream and record services please let Pastor know.
- Spectrum recently came in and updated our modem, which was quite outdated. They also increased our download and upload speeds which makes a big difference in the quality of our livestreaming and recording.
- We have a group of liturgists trained to help lead worship. The training is necessary because we have a few new things to consider with the livestreaming and recording of services. If you are interested in being a liturgist please let Pastor know.
- More people are feeling comfortable coming back to worship in person with the safety practices we have in place.

Some challenges we are still working out in worship:

- More people are feeling comfortable coming back to worship in person but don't like the safety practices we have in place. After a good discussion it was decided we will keep all of those practices in place at this time including the wearing of masks during the worship service. If people don't want to wear masks there is always the option of participating in the service online. Many of the people who come because we have the safety practices in place do not have the option of joining worship online.

Pastor also reported that she has reached out to the confirmation students about starting to meet again. Two of the four students will be coming back this spring/summer for a condensed class and we will plan for a confirmation service in early September.

If you have any questions or comments for the leadership of this church you can contact Pastor or any of the Servant Leadership Board members. As a reminder the Board members are: Paul Foulke, Julie Hanson, Dave Kemp, Peggy Wright, John Lodico, Priscilla Hemmersbach, Toni Burrows, Cheryl Isensee, and Ron Phillips.

You can read the full minutes on the bulletin board in the hallway across from the library.

Shop with scrip...support your church

Change: Nothing stays the same

"In the bulb there is a flower; in the seed, an apple tree; in cocoons, a hidden promise: butterflies will soon be free! In the cold and snow of winter there's a spring that waits to be, unrevealed until its season, something God alone can see." —In the Bulb there is a Flower, Natalie Sleeth, UMH # 707

There is nothing like a crisis to help us to reset priorities. With Covid-19 we have witnessed job layoffs, deaths, social and economic upheavals, and health emergencies. Despite our natural resistance to change, we are learning new ways to live. On account of Covid 19, what personal priorities have you reset?

Toilet paper. Seriously. Will we ever take lowly "TP" for granted again? Toilet paper is just one of the countless everyday blessings that the pain of COVID-19 has taught us to savor – along with worshipping beside loved ones, going to work, getting paid, shopping, going to the movies, and on and on. (What's on your list?)

We are not just individuals; we are brothers and sisters in Christ. As a follower of Jesus, what priorities have you rearrange? How will the Holy Spirit guide us to a "new normal" of holy living as both disciples and community that will be different – and better – than what we have known?

May the "new normal" find us better stewards of our lives -- less greedy, less self-focused, less preoccupied with silly things, and more centered in Christ, more loving to our neighbor, more generous, more hopeful, and more tolerant.

Mother Dear

Beautiful things in this life
Are manifold 'tis true,
We count the stars by thousands,
The birds and flowers, too;
The sunsets and the dawns,
Rare beauties far and near,
But all the wide world over,
There's just one "Mother Dear."

From the Parish Nurse...

God is our Peace Giver

God alone brings peace. In fact, in Philippians 4:9, 1 Thessalonians 5:23, and again in Hebrews 13:20, He is called "the God of peace." Jesus Christ is also seen as the One who gives peace. Jesus said, "My peace I give to you."

Life can be challenging, but God is always good!

We often hear people say they would like a little "peace and quiet." I think we can all say a hearty "amen" to that, especially with all that is taking place in our world right now. Yet, I wanted to take a few moments to encourage you on this thought of "peace."

At times, we have wrongly concluded that peace is simply the absence of conflict of any kind, yet we forget that Jesus came into a world that was filled with political and moral turmoil.

Maybe you just lost someone close to you, or you're about to. Sometimes it feels like you're carrying the weight of the world on your shoulders, and it could all come crashing down on you at any moment.

Perhaps the yearlong Covid pandemic has you in knots, wondering will we ever get back to "the way it was." We may be tired of isolation, masks, social distancing—not seeing our families and friends on a regular basis. But hopefully we can remember why we have been isolated and wearing masks—yes the pandemic. It has been and still is for our safety and health, for protection and respect for ourselves and for others.

God tells us to let him do the worrying. Which is extremely difficult, especially when we count all the things that are keeping us from "being happy."

Stress and worry are hard to shake because they latch onto the things that are most dear to you. Trying to get rid of stress is like going through a rehabilitation, and then relapsing less than two months later, then relapsing again. It's a lot of practice, and once you think you've shaken off the demons, they're back again, telling you everything isn't okay—well, here's the thing. Sometimes, everything is not okay. It's just not. We live in a broken world full of sin, pain, suffering, and injustice. And aren't we all going through good times, bad times, or tough times?

Yes, stress and worry are hard to shake because they latch onto the things that are most dear to us. However,

God will handle it. When we trust Him, we receive this divine peace that comes only with knowing that someone more qualified than us can handle our baggage. Just because we give God our problems, that doesn't mean we forget about them. Instead, we choose not to let our worries keep us from being joyful, or from dragging us down into deep sadness. We pray to communicate with God that we need help, and he graciously extends His comfort and peace to us. Instead of worrying about what others think of you, or stressing out about your packed schedule, we can hold our heads up high because we have counted the blessings that God has given us.

Remember, He was, and IS the Prince of Peace!
In Christ's Love,
Priscilla
